

Contributors to This Issue

Thomas Berry

geologist and the author of The Great Work: Our Way into the Future. He may be reached by contacting CES.

Herman Greene

is the Director of the Center for Ecozoic Studies and an attorney. He resides in Chapel Hill, NC, and may be contacted at hfgreene@mindspring.com.

Fred Lanphear

formally, a Professor of Horticulture at Purdue University and a staff member of the Institute of Cultural Affairs for almost 20 years. He is currently Education Director for the Seattle Institute of Integrative Medicine, and may be contacted at fred@songaia.com.

Peggy Logue

was formerly the Director of Grailville, a conference center in Ohio with programs on spirituality, ecology, women's empowerment, and the arts. She recently built a Labyrinth in her yard to celebrate her 60th birthday and may be reached at PonderAcre@aol.com.

Alice Loyd

is Regional Coordinator for Climate Connection: Interfaith Ecojustice Network, NC Council of Churches. Her activism focuses on good nutrition and sustainable agriculture within autonomous local economies. She may be contacted at aliceloyd@earthlink.net.

Sarah Pirtle

is co-director of the Tree of Life Education Center, Shelburne Falls, MA. This singer-songwriter's CD "Heart of the World" puts The Great Story to music (available online at www.gentlewind.com).

Ted Purcell

is the Baptist Campus Minister at Duke University, where he also teaches a course on "Spirituality and Ecology" in the Nicholas School of the Environment & Earth Sciences. tedpurcl@acpub.duke.edu.

Rev. Finley Schaef

is a retired Methodist pastor and is president of the North American Coalition for Christianity and Ecology. schaef@ulster.net

Mary Southard, CSJ

is an Ecozoic artist and a member of the Sisters of St. Joseph of LaGrange. She provided the art and coordinated production of the "2003 Calendar with Reflections on the Earth Charter." msouthardcsj@juno.com.

Jennie Baumeister

designed and published this issue of The Ecozoic Reader. She is a graphics and print manager.

Submissions for Publication

We invite you to share with us your thoughts, poetry, art, music, dance, ritual, meditation, story or dream experience of the Ecozoic Era and your insights on how to realize it.

To submit an item for publication, send a printed copy of the item and the electronic file(s) on diskette (formatted for PC) to Center for Ecozoic Studies, 2516 Winingham Road, Chapel Hill, NC 27516, USA. Or e-mail your submission to ecozoic@mindspring.com. Please send your contact information and a brief biography. Publication and copyright guidelines are available at www.ecozoicstudies.org.